(Monday-Friday 10 am – 3.00 pm)

In the book of Jeremiah we read a many-sided presentation of one of the great prophetic figures of the Bible. The theme of prophetic suffering is a major contribution of this book and so too is the promise of a new covenant. These four Lenten talks aim at exploring these themes and reflecting on their implications for Christian readers.

Charles Conroy MSC is Emeritus Professor of Old Testament in the Gregorian University in Rome. He now resides in Cork as a member of the Sacred Heart Community in Western Road.
